THE HOUSEWIFE'S
ENEMY

There's nothing more annoying to the careful housewife than a houseful of flies, (unless it be a houseful of mosquitoes.) And the annoyance is shared by every member of the family in a lesser degree. No one cares to have them prancing through all sorts of filthy places which they seek out of doors and then alight on the butter or come to an end in one's cup of tea or coffee. Eternal vigilance and the use of door and window screens—the kind that keep flies and mosquitoes out—are the only sure preventive. We have the screens and can supply you at a very low price. Better get them early.

"We are old friends, this bottle and I. We have known each other for over sixty years. When a boy I was always taking cold, but a few doses of this medicine would at once set me right. When a young man I had a weak throat and weak lungs. My friends feared some lung trouble, but greatly strengthened my throat, cleared up my voice, and took away the tendency for every cold to get to my lungs.

Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral

"Last year I had a bad attack of la grippe. The only medicine I took was from this bottle, and I came out all right. I know it's good, too, for asthma, bronchitis, pneumonia, croup."

There are many substitutes and imitations. Beware of them! Be sure you get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

PHILIPPINE TRADE

The commerce of the Philippine Islands continues to increase, notwithstanding the adverse agricultural conditions that have prevailed during the past year. This fact is demonstrated by the trade figures for ten months ending April 30, 1903, received by the Insular Bureau of the War Department.

In the month of April, 1903, the total value of imports and exports of merchandise was $6,733,778, as against $3,845,673 in 1902 and $3,867,362 in 1901. For ten months ending April 30, 1903, the trade amounted to $53,703,263, while for the corresponding period of 1902 the amount was $46,145,891, and in 1901 it was $44,199,558.

The great bulk of this gain has been due to an increase in exports, shipments from the islands for the month of April 1903, approximating nearly $4,000,000, made up, for the most part, of heavy cargoes of hemp; in fact the largest monthly output since American occupation, and from present indications the figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, will show a balance of trade in favor of the islands, a position they have not occupied for the last seven years, or from the date of the insurrection against Spain in 1896.

The volume of trade at the present time is larger than in any previous year, regardless of the interruption to business by reason of quarantine restrictions, as a result of cholera, heavy losses owing to the destruction of crops by locusts, and an almost total annihilation of farm cattle, due to the ravages of riderpest, all of which, naturally, had a depressing effect.

The distribution of exports for the ten months ending April 30, during the last three years, according to the principal agricultural products, is shown as follows:

	1901.	1902.	1903.
Hemp . . . . .	$11,404,261	$12,608,355	$17,506,220
Sugar . . . . .	1,967,324	2,068,645	2,942,014
Tobacco . . . . .	1,954,299	2,194,565	1,646,607
Copra . . . . .	2,382,900	782,102	3,696,186
Sundries . . . . .	1,325,385	1,623,815	908,845

Totals . . . . . $19,034,169 $19,367,482 $26,699,872

The most noticeable increase in value is found under hemp and copra, the trade in both of these articles having made exceptionally large gains during the past year. Of the hemp produced and credited to exportation in 1903 the United States easily ranks as the principal buyer, receiving nearly $10,000,000 worth, or 57 per centum of the total, as against 18 per centum of the shipments in 1901.

Although more than two-thirds of the Philippine exports consist of hemp, it may prove of interest to note the comparative value of United States trade in the leading commodities as enumerated above. The exports to the United States were as follows:

	1901.	1902.	1903.
Hemp . . . . .	$2,106,630	$5,129,974	$9,911,549
Sugar . . . . .	93,472	293,354	921,150
Tobacco . . . . .	5,027	8,317	46,070
Copra . . . . .	4,450	7	9,358
Other articles . . . . .	62,712	117,062	124,938

Totals . . . . . $2,272,291 $5,548,714 $11,012,765

With regard to imports into the islands, while their value for the ten months of 1903 does not show so large a gain as might have been expected under more favorable conditions, nevertheless an average monthly trade of nearly $2,750,000 has been maintained, this being somewhat in excess of the showing for the year previous. The importation of rice is still heavy, and will in all probability continue so for some time, though it is hoped that the home production, which is being stimulated, will tend to greatly reduce the purchases from abroad.

Aside from rice imports, which reached nearly $7,500,000 worth in 1903, the United States is supplying over one-sixth of the trade in other commodities, steady increase being made in such lines as wheat flour, practically the total importation coming from this country, canned salmon, meat products, illuminating oils, machinery of different kinds, paper, cotton goods and leather manufactures, principally boots and shoes, the figures showing a constant and growing demand for the American make of shoe.

GOOD NEWS FOR ELLIS LANDO.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—Hazing at Annapolis was one of the subjects discussed at the Navy Department today between Secretary Moody and Captain Willard H. Brownson, superintendent of the naval academy. Since returning from his vacation Captain Brownson has carried out a thoroughly investigation of affairs at the academy, and today reported to the Secretary that no hazing existed at Annapolis. There are not more than twenty upper-class men at the institution. As soon as the midshipmen return from their holiday, the superintendent will renew the vigorous policy against hazing which proved effective last year. Secretary Moody recently said to Captain Brownson: "If hazing exists at Annapolis, stop it, and the Navy Department will back you."

LET THEM ALL COME.

Mr. Sargent, United States Commissioner of Immigration, is a little nervous by the number of people coming over here to grow up with the country. In the last three years nearly two millions have landed, and Mr. Sargent is sure that a round million will come in the fiscal year June 30, 1903, to June 30, 1904. Well, what of it. Let them come! The wretched "foreigners" were going to run the country more than fifty years ago. So many good people thought. Are the sons and grandsons of those immigrants going to shut the door in the face of these later comers? Oh, but these are different. These are not Germans or Irish or Scandinavians, but "low-down" Italians, Huns, Slavs, Russian and Roumanian Jews. These will never do. They can never "assimilate with our people."

All this simply because we don't yet know the newcomers. Fifty years ago some persons who regarded themselves as particularly "good Americans" ignorantly hated the "ignorant Irish." They didn't know "the Irish," that's all. Wait a generation or two, and these dreaded immigrants of 1903 may be highly respectable, conservative citizens full of apprehensions about the immigration of the Persians or the Abyssinians.—Everybody's Magazine for October.

FIND EVIDENCES OF A PIRATE'S CACHE.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 18.—Martin Ledder, who has been a member of the United States dredgeboat crew employed in deepening the channel in Galveston bay, is visiting here, and tells an interesting story of the discovery of strong evidences of the treasure hidden by Lafitte, the pirate chief, which he says lies at the bottom of Galveston bay instead of being buried on Galveston island, as has long been supposed.

He says the dredgeboat George Sealy has been pumping up old Spanish coins and other rare relics of ancient times from the bottom of the bay for several days past, and the boat crew believes the bulk of the treasure, which is said to amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars in gold, will be recovered.

In addition to the coins several hundred pounds of copper bolts have been pumped up from the same locality. These bolts were used in the construction of ancient seagoing craft. The latest date on the coins is 1812. Huge stones have also been encountered in the bottom of the bay, and it is thought they were placed there by Lafitte to mark the location of the sunken treasure. A rusty shell of ancient type has been recovered in the same manner. Lafitte and his crew of pirates lived on Galveston island from 1816 until 1825.
